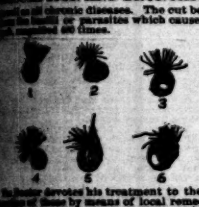
W. N. DAVIS
Offers to treat, at his office, 45½ North Spring st.,
CATARRH,
INFLAMMATION AND BRONCHITIS
and all chronic diseases. The cut below shows insects or parasites which cause Catarrh, magnified 500 times.



Dr. Davis devotes his treatment to the destruction of these by means of local remedies which can be applied by the patient at home with convenience or detention from work. Constitutional remedies are employed in most cases to purify the blood, regulate the liver, build up the general system, and no quackdom in the country is used to poison the patient directly to the stores, or sent through the mails. At the office, when necessary, patient can come regularly to office for treatment. Cases of 40 years' standing can, in a very few cases, be cured permanently. Cases pronounced incurable, and given up by the Doctor failed in a child of three years have been used as directed.

Hundreds of testimonials of cures in Los Angeles will show the rapidity with which the disease can be cured:

Residence, Bonnie Brae Hill ave., Los Angeles, Cal.—Dr. W. N. Davis, Dear Sir: I am happy to inform you that your remedies have entirely overcome chronic catarrh of the head, also that of the nostrils and throat from which I suffered so much. It does not trouble me at all now, and I have only taken your treatment about two months and a half. Very gratefully, M. S. FISH.

Los Angeles, June 12, 1886.—Dr. W. N. Davis, Dear Sir: I was troubled with a bad form of catarrh of the nose and throat, and I am thankful to say that your remedies have entirely cured me in a few weeks. My stomach was also diseased, causing indigestion, which is entirely cured. I have gained 10 pounds since I began treatment, and feel now as I was a child.
MRS. ELLA WILKINSON,
Figueroa st., near Ward.

Los Angeles, Aug. 2, 1886.—Dr. W. N. Davis: This is to certify that I have been troubled with catarrh for four years. My breath was offensive, and I had used many kinds of medicine, but it failed to cure me. I went to Dr. W. Davis and he treated me with the Medicated Vapor Treatment, and I was cured in a few weeks, and I am now in perfect health. All my friends who are troubled with catarrh had better go and consult Dr. Davis.
JOS. BAKER,
No. 217 E. First st.

Hundreds of other testimonials and references could be given were it necessary. As all of these persons have been cured in one locality.

The Howes Tract.

Worth Reading.

A Splendid Piece of Property Placed on the Market.

—THE—

Southern California Land Co.

AGAIN TO THE FORE.

THE HOWES TRACT, on Jefferson street, including the handsome home residence and charming grounds of F. C. Howes, Esq., Cashier of Los Angeles National Bank, to be subdivided—375 large lots (one-fifth of an acre each), with nine beautiful residences, including the large cottage of 10 rooms of Mr. Howes, graded streets, etc., to be sold on the homestead plan at $190 per lot, in payments of $10 monthly, without interest, with first payment of $30.

The great success of the Southern California Land Company (Baker Block) with the Childs Tract, Urmston Tract, City Center Tract, Williamson Tract, Eleventh-street Block and Columbia Colony has been owing to the wonderfully low rates at which this popular company has placed first-class, well-located property before the public.

It is refreshing to note in the midst of the boom in real estate, that one reliable firm not only gives to the people homestead lots at about one-third the prices charged by others, but also performs all its promises to the letter, in the building of houses, opening out of streets, putting up electric lights and extending the improvements of our city to its farthest legitimate bounds.

The maps of the Howes Tract will not be ready for some days; but in the meantime all will be bustle and activity on this beautiful property; surveyors will be laying off streets and avenues, builders will be placing houses and pushing forward at once all the improvements promised, and the tract, now almost all covered with vines, orange trees and splendid foliage, will put on a metropolitan look and keep up with its beautiful surroundings of costly buildings and cottage residences.

The Howes Tract fronts on Jefferson street, west of Vermont avenue. The location is a very popular one, in the direct line of the city's rapid growth, and will soon be reached by lines of street railroad and the motor road on the west.

It was not intended to open the books for this fine property until the 5th of November, but the fact that it was to be placed on the market having become known, an instant demand sprang up, and names are coming in so rapidly that the sales may all be made before even the maps, plans, etc., are ready for the public. The large salesroom of the SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA LAND COMPANY, 244 North Main street, Baker block, is filled every evening with subscribers until a late hour.

$190 per lot is not one-third the price of outlying lots in Pasadena or the rocky canyons around it, and not one-fourth the rate of the farthest subdivision of unmarketable tracts in East Los Angeles.

THE DEADLY POPPY.

George Burke Found Dying From An Overdose of Opium.

There was a pitiful picture at the police station last night. Stretched upon a rude couch with feet to the fire was a human life fast ebbing away. Dr. Baker declared his time short, and that life even then was supported only by injections of brandy and ammonia. Around him were a gaping crowd of lookers-on, some of whom were inclined to be irreverent in the solemn presence of death. The story is a splendid text for a temperance sermon. George Burke was a young man about 25 years old. A few months ago he was a waiter in the St. Charles Hotel. He returned yesterday morning from a trip to San Diego. Last night about half-past 9 o'clock Officers Tyler and Haskins found him lying on his back on the rear steps of the Pico House. Marks in the dust showed he had been dragged from a Chinese opium joint opposite on Sanchez street. The officers got a herdic and took him to the station. Dr. Baker, who was called and attended him, says that Burke swallowed an overdose of opium. After being removed to the station Burke vomited freely what opium his system had not already absorbed. The supposition is that on his arrival he visited the opium-joint, on Sanchez street, and had a regular spree, and the Chinamen, being frightened at his condition, dragged him to the spot where he was found. Nothing is known of his antecedents.

Burke died at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

SO ENTERTAINING.

Two Sleek Rascals Heavily Rob Their Employer.

John Wilson, the sturdy blacksmith, whose place of business is at No. 12 East First street, lives on San Pedro street, between Adams and Jefferson. On Thursday he hired a couple of peripatetic work-seekers to labor on his vineyard. Mrs. Wilson is pretty busy about the house. Friday evening directly after supper, one of the two new laborers sat down and had a very pleasant talk with her. If any one had looked up stairs they would have seen the companion flitting about with an interrogative and discriminating glance. He nosed around the wardrobe until he found $750 in gold, which Mr. Wilson had laid by to pay his taxes, and a $60 gold chain belonging to Mrs. Wilson. Then his talented and entertaining partner got up and left Mrs. Wilson to think what a pleasant and instructive talker he was, and the able pair sauvely sauntered out for an evening ramble. They are still rambling, and Sheriff Gard's keen deputies are rambling after them, with a good show for catching up.

The District Agricultural Association have made the hearts of the ladies glad by denoting to the Orphans' Home the sum of one hundred dollars, this bid for the privilege of selling refreshments at the resent fair.

Captain Carr reports that the newspaper mail from the Los Angeles postoffice has increased 50 per cent. within the last two months. The increase is due to the enlargement of the city papers as much as to increase of circulation.

The present salary fixed for the postmaster of Pasadena is $1,400, but the business of the office entitles him to $1,850. A readjustment of the salary should be made, for the credit of the town, as well as the profit of the postmaster.

J. W. Potts, G. D. Compton, Rev. A. M. Hough, J. B. Dunlap, Mrs. M. G. Tongier and H. H. Matlock will close the Prohibition campaign in Los Angeles on Monday evening, at 7:30, at the platform on the south side of the Courthouse.

The arguments in the half-million-dollar Pico vs. Cohn case begin at 10 a.m. to-morrow, and the array of legal talent, with the majority of the case, will doubtless draw a crowd. White, Walter Van Dyke and R. H. Chapman.

Remember,
Hepburn Homestead Association lots are equal to about three of the lots sold by any other association in the city.

I Have "Seen Them All."
Said a shrewd buyer, and the South Side lots of the Electric Railway Homestead Association is the only piece I would invest. The location is so lovely and commanding. Those lots will sell rapidly when low lots are a drug on the market.

NEW YORK POLITICS.

CLOSING SCENES OF THE CONTEST FOR MAYOR.

Hewitt Wishes He had Stuck to the Congressional Field.

Roosevelt Replies That It is Not Too Late To Repent.

Henry George Reviews a Monster Procession of His Adherents Who Turn out in Spite of Rain 45,000 Strong in His Honor.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—[By the Western Associated Press.] To-day was a busy one among politicians, practically closing the speaking canvass, as the election will be held on Tuesday, and Monday will have to be devoted principally to executive work. Most of the candidates for Mayor made speeches either during the afternoon or evening. Hon. Abram S. Hewitt the united Democratic candidate for Mayor said in one of his addresses to-day that he had consented to accept the nomination instead of running for Congress again in the belief that the Republicans would make no nomination and so leave a square fight between the Socialists and anti-Socialist element of the city. Had he known that the Republicans would nominate a candidate he would not have accepted the nomination.

ROOSEVELT'S PERTINENT REPLY.

Theodore Roosvelt, the Republican candidate, said in one of his speeches in reply to this that if Mr. Hewitt feared that the Socialist or Labor candidate might triumph, and if all he wanted was their defeat, then the proper thing for him to do was to turn over a portion of his following to vote for the Republican candidate.

AN IMMENSE LABOR DEMONSTRATION.

The labor organizations of the city which indorse the nomination of Henry George for Mayor had a parade to-night. It is estimated that over 45,000 men were in line. The police reserves were all held in the stations in anticipation of any trouble that might occur, but none occurred. The procession marched in files of ten and were two hours and a half passing a given point. Henry George reviewed the parade in Union square. It rained heavily during the march.

WHO STABBED HIM.

Detroit Excited Over a Mysterious Murder.

DETROIT, Oct. 30.—Late last night while a man and woman were eating together on Jefferson avenue a stranger stepped up and called for help to remove the body of a dead man whom, he said, he had found on the street. The dead man proved to be the husband of the woman, who said his name was William L. Stewart and that they had recently come to Detroit, where her husband was seeking work. It was thought that he died from heart disease, but a post mortem to-day reveals the fact that death resulted from a deep wound in the chest, which extended to the heart, causing hemorrhage. The wound seems to have been made by some such instrument as a Spanish stiletto. Who did the stabbing is unknown. The man who first called attention to the dead man has disappeared, and no one knows anything about him. The woman who claims to be the murdered man's wife is known to be Little Frank, an actress, formerly of Buffalo.

Six Men to Be Hanged.

FORT SMITH, ARK., Oct. 30.—Six United States prisoners were sentenced to-day to be hanged on Friday, January 14th, for murders committed in the Indian Territory. They were: Pat McCarthy, for the murder of the Maloney boys in the Cherokee Nation last February; Albert Odell and James Lamb, for the murder of Edward Fellard in the Chickasaw Nation last December; John W. Parrott, for the murder of John McAdams and John McAdams, his son, in the summer of last year; John F. Eaton, for the murder of John Fetteridge in the Cherokee Nation, and John Stephens, for the murder of Dr. J. T. Pyle in the Cherokee Nation last winter. All are white men but Stephens, who is a negro.

Jailed on Circumstantial Evidence.

WALLA WALLA, W. T., Oct. 30.—The man found murdered recently six miles north of Coyotte station in Klickitat county has been identified as William Sterling of Walla Walla. He had been at work in the summer on the Cascade branch. He had a good team and $300 and was returning in company with a man named Henry Zimmerman. There is strong circumstantial evidence against Zimmerman who is now in jail in the Dalles. Zimmermah formerly lived at Arlington and bore a good name. He had engaged Sterling to go home with him to break horses.

Bergh's Society Gets the Money.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 30.—The jury in the Welton-Bergh will case, which has been on trial for several weeks, returned a verdict this afternoon in favor of Henry Bergh. By this decision Mr. Bergh's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will receive $150,000. Carrie Welton, who left the money to Mr. Bergh, was a rather eccentric Waterbury lady, who was frozen to death while ascending a mountain in Colorado, two years ago. Miss Welton's relatives tried to break the will on the ground of insanity.

Slew His Brother's Murderer.

NOGALES, Oct. 30.—It is rumored here that Gov. Torres has taken an active part in the revolution in the Moctezuma district. On a recent trip to that district, accompanied by his chief aide, he learned that a party of revolutionists commanded by the murderer of Torres's brother were in the village of Moctezuma. During the fight with the revolutionists Gov. Torres killed the leader of the party with his own hand, and effectually routed the remainder of the party.

Murder or Suicide.

DETROIT, Oct. 30.—William Cooper, of Port Austin, has received a letter addressed to him by his uncle, Joseph Heath, who mysteriously disappeared from the steamer Alaska during her trip from Sandusky to Detroit on Tuesday. Its contents stated where his will and other private papers can be found. Heath left a fortune of $300,000. It is altogether unlikely that he committed suicide. It is believed that he was robbed and thrown into the lake.

Mr. Luddell had never lived over half a mile from the house where he first saw the light of day. At the time the signal of war sounded in 1813, Mr. Luddell was sitting in church. He went home, got his old gun, went to Cohasset and helped to keep back the British until the arrival of the soldiers.

KAULBARS GIVES BULGARIA HIS ULTIMATUM.

A Russian Plot to Overthrow the Sofia Government

And Place the Czar's Emissary at the Head of the Army.

Fearful Picture of Distress Among German Workmen—How Bismarck Silenced an Obnoxious Editor—The Mad King Otto of Bavaria Dying.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES.

SOFIA (Bulgaria), Oct. 30.—[By Cable.] Gen. Kaulbars has issued an ultimatum to the Bulgarian government. He complains that Russians in Bulgaria are maltreated and terrorized, and says that if in three days he does not receive a satisfactory answer to his ultimatum, he will rupture his relations with the Regency and leave Sofia, taking with him the whole personnel of the Russian consulate. The government has sent a circular to the various prefects, commanding them to adopt stringent measures for the protection of Russians. A copy of the circular was sent to Gen. Kaulbars, with a request that he furnish the names of the Russians who, he alleged, had been molested.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—A dispatch from Sofia to the Times says: Gen. Kaulbars attended a secret meeting at which resolutions were adopted to overthrow the present Bulgarian government and to proclaim a ministry under Zankoff, with Gen. Kaulbars as the head of the army.

HARDSHIPS OF GERMAN WORKMEN.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The reports of the inspectors of factories which have just been issued show that the employés in most factories work eleven hours, not reckoning overtime. With overtime the workmen in some districts, notably Dusseldorff, work from thirty-six to forty-eight hours at a stretch, though they are supposed to have liberty to leave after twenty-four working hours. The usual hours of boiler men, in Dusseldorff, are twelve and often twenty-four hours. In Magdeburg, artisans work twelve hours; in Hanover, ten, and in Amaberg eleven. The cotton spinners in Potsdam and Frankfort-on-the-Oder work twelve hours per day in winter and fourteen hours in summer. The steel ware and iron apprentices in Dusseldorff often work sixteen hours daily. In Furth the glass workmen work six days unceasingly, except for a couple of hours, when they sleep on benches or old, dirty straw stacks, in corners of the workshop. The general impression from the reports is that there is much overwork, bad arrangement of hours, with hideous sanitary conditions.

AN EDITOR SENTENCED.

The Dortmund tribunal has sentenced Herr Lansing, editor of Fremorie, to six months' imprisonment for an article appearing in his paper in which he attacked Prince Bismarck on his Polish, social and religious policies. MERCED IN FLAMES.

The Town Threatened by a Furious Conflagration.

MERCED, CAL., Oct. 30.—[By the Western Associated Press.] Fire broke out in El Capitan livery stables, owned by the estate of Mart McClenathan, this evening, and in five minutes the building, together with the stables belonging to P. B. Bennett, was too far gone to be saved. The alarm bells were rung immediately and the firemen turned out in the shortest possible time, and now have two streams playing upon the blazing buildings and buildings adjacent. The Yosemite stables and Leaker's hall on the same street and a number of wooden buildings in the rear of the El Capitan stables are in immediate danger. So far the progress of the flames has not apparently been checked and indications are for a very destructive conflagration.

Collision Between Racing Stages.

OROVILLE, CAL., Oct. 30.—This morning when the opposition stages of Morrison and Messer, running between this place and Cherokee, were near Leaman, a place in Morris ravine, and were racing for the lead, they collided, and both stages, with their loads of passengers, tumbled down the bank, severely injuring a Miss Chandler about the head and face, and slightly injuring several other passengers. Both stages were badly broken up, and it is miraculous that some one was not killed. The stages have been racing for several months past on a very dangerous road.

The General Master Workman's Seeking to Placate the Church.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—[By the Western Association Press.] The Sun this morning has the following: "General Master Workman Powderly of the Knights of Labor was in the city on Thursday, and called on Cardinal Gibbons at his residence, where a conference of prelates was held to discuss questions affecting the welfare of the Catholic church in the United States, principally in relation to the duties of Catholics who are members of the order. Powderly had two interviews with the Cardinal, and laid before him the constitution and by-laws of the order. He also spoke of the purposes of the Knights and how in his opinion they were an organization not included in the prescription of the church against secret societies which promise blind obedience. The utterances of Powderly were carefully noted and presented to the Bishop. It is said that he went away from Baltimore assured that his organization would not be interfered with."

VALLEJO, Cal., Oct. 30.—A test trial of the new stone dock was made to-day by taking in the old receiving ship Independence. Arrangements for a gala time had been made, but the rain falling all day spoiled the calculations of the yard authorities. The test trial of the dock, however, was commenced at 2 p.m. It was done without difficulty under direction of Civil Engineer Walcott, and everything being in readiness, Lieut. Tenant Jones, executive officer took the ship into the dock without accident. By 5 p.m. the immense gate was returned to its place, and by the lateness of the hour, by order of Commodore Belknap further work was suspended until Monday, when the dock will be emptied and the ship put on the blocks. The ship entered the docks amid the screaming of whistles and sent a thrill of joy through the spectators as she floated on to her position. There will no doubt be a large crowd present on Monday to witness the further operations.

A Pastor Attacked by a Woman.

ST. LOUIS, October 30.—A special from Shelbyville, Ills., to the Post-Dispatch says: Rev. Joseph L. Doutritt, of the Unitarian church, of this place, is also proprietor of a Prohibition paper called "Our Best Ward," which has lately taken a strong stand against the whiskey element, and has been more bitter than usual in its editorials. Mr. Doutritt has been told several times that the paper had better change its policy or something unpleasant would occur. Last night Mrs. Grey went to the pastor's house and attempted to assassinate Mrs. Doutritt. The would-be murderess was overpowered and handed over to the officers of the law, and is now in jail. It is supposed that the whiskey men employed her to kill Mrs. Doutritt in revenge for the pastor's work in favor of prohibition.

The Pavonia's Mishap.

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—The disabled steamer Pavonia now lies on the beach at Rainford's island, whither she was towed last night from off Boston light, where she was anchored. It was discovered that the steamer was leaking in other than her forward compartment, and so much so that her fires were extinguished by the water in the hold. It was then decided to take off all passengers remaining on board and beach the vessel to prevent her from sinking. The passengers were all transferred in safety to this city by tugs and pilot boats, reaching here early this morning. Her mails and all baggage are now being brought to this city by tugs. Tugs with lighters on board have gone to the steamer and will remove as much of her cargo as possible. A diver has also gone to Rainsford's island to examine the bottom of the steamer as soon as the weather permits.

A Big Cotton Scheme.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—A Vicksburg (Miss.) dispatch says: It is stated in this city that C. P. Huntington and R. T. Wilson of New York, and Leland Stanford of California contemplate forming a combination to open and cultivate about 100,000 acres of land on the line of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railroad, in the Yazoo delta. The road owned about 700,000 acres, but has sold about one-third to actual settlers. It is the intention of the gentlemen to bring the land to the highest standard of cultivation. As the lands in the Yazoo valley are recognized as the finest cotton lands in the South, they will cultivate principally cotton.

THE EAST RIO ACCIDENT.

Twenty-two Victims—The Brakeman's Story of the Affair.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Oct. 30.—[By the Western Associated Press.] If all the missing people so far reported as having been on the train which was wrecked on Monday night are not heard from the list of victims will be swelled to twenty-two. The laws of Wisconsin limit the liability of railroads for deaths caused by negligence at not exceeding $5000.

C. H. Wells, the freight brakeman charged with being responsible for the terrible railway accident at Rio on Wednesday night, came to this city yesterday and visited the general offices of the St. Paul Railway Company. He declares that Hankey, the freight conductor, is wholly responsible for the accident. The following is the substance of his story: "The train arrived at East Rio siding several minutes before the limited train in sequence. The freight train was too long for one side track; so we cut it in two, switching one part on to the side track, and then detaching the engine and switching the rest of it into the other side of the track. It was not my duty to close the switch. I had never closed it before. The conductor had always done that. On the night of the accident, after we had reached the siding and side-tracked our train, I had to remain on top of one of the cars, while Conductor Hankey threw the switch, and shortly afterward passed the car on which I was standing. He told me that everything was all right, and that he was going to the head of the train. I looked at my watch, and discovered, or I thought I did, that the limited train was late. Just then the limited bore in sight. I was horrified to see it run off the track shortly after it passed my car. In a moment the train was in flames. I was badly frightened, thinking the freight train had to be lynched. I realize that I made a mistake in running away, but it was very natural under the circumstances." Wells says he is ready to give himself up when ever he is wanted. He engaged counsel in Milwaukee.

Teemer and Hamm Score a Victory on the Thames.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—[By Cable.] The international handicap double sculling sweepstakes took place to-day on the Thames. The race consisted of two trial heats, and a final heat was rowed over the course from Wordsworth foot-bridge to Point Little, below Hammersmith bridge, a distance of about two and a half miles. The first heat was between J. Perkins and Dave Godwin, and Wallace Ross and G. W. Lee. The former had the Surrey and the latter the Middlesex side. Ross and Lee started from a scratch, while Perkins and Godwin had twelve seconds' start. Perkins and Godwin won the heat.

The second heat was between John Teemer and Albert Hamm, and J. B. Bubear and W. G. East. Teemer and Hamm, the American team, won the heat easily by several lengths. The final heat and race was won by Teemer and Hamm, who defeated Perkins and Godwin.

A REBELLION IN AFGHANISTAN.

CABUL (Afghanistan), Oct. 30.—The Ghilzai tribe, and a portion of the Haharas, have been joined by the renowned robber, Sadu, and under command of the sons of the notorious Mushki, Alun Mollaha, have risen against the Ameer. Near Ghuzme they attacked and dispersed an Afghan regiment, which was acting as escort to a treasury train. The rising is attributed to popular discontent over the excessive rate of taxation.

ART NOTES.

A Look Through Hayes's Studio—Pictures of Well-known People.

A reporter of THE TIMES happened in at Hayes's studio, No. 29½ South Spring street, yesterday, and passed a delicious half hour in inspecting the portraits with which the walls are lined. Portraits in oil, in water colors and in crayon look out upon the spectator from all sides and impress him with a sense of the personal presence of the subject. Two of the most notable pictures in the collection are the crayon portraits of Lt. Judson and wife. The strong features of Mr. Judson are delineated with an exactness which is truly marvelous. Mrs. Judson's picture is handled with great delicacy, and it is neither treason nor flattery to say that it is both natural and handsome.

A life-size, full-length crayon portrait of a little boy of Mr. Neiswanger, of East Los Angeles, is one of the most striking pictures in the collection. The child stands by a large rock, and the sylvan landscape in perspective sets him out like a veritable "babe in the woods."

Portraits in oil of James Booth and wife, and a water-color of their little daughter Eva, are very fine.

There are charming water-color pictures of Miss Susie Bevalle, Mr. Lasbrook's two little boys and Willie Enderlein. There are also some portraits which can't be mentioned here, as they are designed for Christmas surprises from living husbands to wives, and vice versa. A person who delights in the true and the beautiful will be well repaid by a visit to Hayes's studio.

An Accident.

Richard Denger, an employe of the Milwaukee Brewing Company, was crushed between a truck and a freight car, on San Fernando street, yesterday. The blood spouted from his nostrils. Dr. Reed waited on him. Denger's friends say he is all right.

Howell's Death.

Thomas Howell, the engine foreman, who was run over Friday noon, and had his leg crushed, died yesterday at 9 a. m. An inquest will be held to-day at Garrett & Reilly's.

SPITEFUL SIR CLAUS.

THE HAWAIIAN KNIGHT KICKS AGAINST HIS KING.

Total Rout of the Spreckles Party in the Islands—The Ministry Resigns—An English Occupation of King Kalakaua's Domains Predicted.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—[By the Western Associated Press.] The steamer Mariposa, which arrived from Sydney and Honolulu to-day, brings news of the resignation of the Hawaiian Cabinet, and the appointment of a new Cabinet, as follows: Minister of Foreign Affairs and Premier, Walter Murray Gibson; Minister of the Interior, Luther Aholo; Minister of Finance, Rane P. Kanoa; Attorney General, John L. Kaulukou. The resignation of the old Cabinet was due to the defeat on the 13th inst. of the ministry on the amendment to the bill securing the two-millionsdollar loan recently authorized by the Hawaiian Legislature.

The effect of the amendment was to secure the payment of the $700,000 previously loaned the Government by Claus Spreckels. Owing to this action of the Legislature Claus Spreckels has returned all his decorations to King Kalakaua.

In conversation to-day regarding the action of the Hawaiian Legislature, John D. Spreckles, son of Claus Spreckles, said: "In effect the act of the Legislature was one of repudiation. Before it was prorogued, on the 16th of this month, it passed a loan with the proviso of making its payment come before our claims. The Government owes us $500,000, for which we hold bonds, and about $200,000 which my father advanced to book account to tide the national treasury over a financial gulf. Our claims will be paid, however, in spite of the precedence of the last loan. To me this latest action looks like a scheme to get control of the islands. The loan is to be floated in England, and payment is secured by a mortgage on the Hawaiian revenues. It is very poor security, for that government is notoriously bankrupt, and last year its expenditures exceeded its income by fully $1,250,000. The result of this will be that the loan cannot be paid. England will insist upon payment, however, and will find it necessary to take possession of the kingdom to secure the bondholders."

ONE OF MRS. BAYNTON'S CUSTOMERS.

AN ERRATIC "STAR."

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 29.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The Pasadena Star claims it knows what it wants, and has convinced its readers that it wants Walter S. Moore elected as Secretary of State, and in doing so, has not only injured the Republican party in and around this place, but has weakened its own local usefulness for the future; as what man, entertaining any self-respect, could accept suggestions from an editor, who for weeks has been throwing his entire influence in favor of such a man for a high State office as Moore is known to be in this community, even presenting the exalted idea, because a man made himself acceptable to a fire department of a city, as its chief, there could be no reasonable excuse for the voters of a State not placing him in the high position of Secretary of State, while at the same time his paper has been full of true, manly sentiments, such as: "Reform a party just as you would reform a church—by driving out the objectionable members"; "A bad nomination always weakens a party"; "The nomination of bad or incompetent men for office, no matter by what party, is to be forever condemned;" etc. Can the Star excuse this awful inconsistency? or will it make the attempt, preferring to claim ignorance, not having been a resident of the county long? or will it go still further and deny ever having favored Moore's election? Our worthy local must do the one or the other, as after the rebuke the voters will give such trucking, it will be ashamed of its cowardly position, and the noble stand assumed by the LOS ANGELES TIMES, the principal paper of the county, furnished every evidence; left no excuse for any paper not to practice its teachings, for not accepting an opportunity that it would seem any honest, earnest, party organ would gladly embrace to strengthen its party, its principles, its finances.

REPUBLICAN.

MR. ROSE ASSAULTS ORTHOGRAPHY.

"SUNNY SLOPE," Oct. 30.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Will you allow me to answer Col Edwards card in your paper and allow me to call it "Col Edwards little game" and I would ask him wether "it is false" that Hon McGlashen of Truckee introduced the bill of devission of Los Angeles County at the Col request and is it not a fact that it is at Sacramento now and known as the Edwards Bill and ready to be taken up again. If it was not Col Edwards Bill whose could it possible be? Who should feel any interest in such a matter. Could it be that a gentleman from Truckee should wish to have our County devided. The Col says that he dont remember wether he voted for it or not. I will say that if I am elected I will remember if the bill comes up, wether I voted or not.

As to my consistancy, my being for devission at Orange and Santa Ana is not in accordance with what I said at both places. After making my talk at Orange I was called upon how I stood upon county devission, and my reply was that I could seen no necessity or profit for such devission. That it would entail additional expense in additional officers to form another county government. Besides I felt a pride in belonging to such a rich and prosperous county, a county which was known all over the world, and that it was a greater honor when abroad to hail from Los Angeles County, than even to claim to be a Californian. At Santa Ana I made the same remarks adding if however majorities were against my views, if the people so wished it that they would not find any captious opposition from me. Do you call that being in favor of Devision.

It is true I have fears that this will be used against me in Orange and Santa Ana and I am informed that there has been a quiet effort made, to vote against me by reason of this feeling and have beleeved that the effort would grow more open and earnest the nearer the time of election and I have been trying to counteract this probable loss by having those neighborhoods who are now in favor of devission compensate me by their votes for this loss nor does it look any different now for it is now nearly two weeks since I made my talk at Orange and the matter was then well understood at Anaheim and my neighborhood, but the whole matter has been delayed until to-day, Saturday, and as I did not see a paper until to-night. Respectfully

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] In view of the political situation in the South the question arises, what shall be done with the later constitutional amendments—commonly known as "the fruits of the war?" Shall they be enforced or repealed? Every existing law or constitutional provision that can not be enforced should be abrogated. It is sickening to think how justice is burlesqued and the public mind debauched in this country by the existence of "dead-letter" laws—national, state and municipal. Laws which nobody respects because they are never enforced. The thirteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution, adopted in 1865, abolished slavery and thereby broke what had been the backbone of the slaveholders' rebellion. But how about the amendments that followed? The fourteenth amendment, adopted in 1868, and the fifteenth, adopted in 1870, were intended to confer the rights of citizenship upon the colored race, removing all distinction on account of color and making black and white people equal before the law. This is as it should be. But, unfortunately, these amendments have never been followed up by the necessary legislation. After the colored men of the South had been nominally enfranchised, and the representation of those States in Congress and in the Electoral College thereby increased, the black voters were practically left to shift for themselves—to enjoy these newly-acquired rights and privileges only if agreeable to their former owners and overseers. Otherwise they should say nothing about them. It is well known how, in five or six of those States, the colored people have enjoyed (?) these privileges and exercised these rights. It is well known, and the proof is overwhelming, that physical force with a representative Southern Bourbon is a more potent factor in shaping elections than are all the constitutional amendments ever adopted. It is well known that a majority of the legal voters in those States (who are Republicans) are practically disfranchised. This is done in defiance of the plain provisions of the constitution. The fourteenth and fifthteenth amendments are deliberately nullified by Bourbon brutality. Well may we inquire, what kind of a Government have we, anyhow?

When an American citizen, who happens to be in a foreign land, is deprived of a legal right, our Government immediately gets up on its dignity, shows its teeth, and demands that the wronged citizen be treated fairly. And in doing so, the Government voices the sentiment of the whole country. But right here in our own land, under the alleged "protecting folds of the Stars and Stripes," the constitutional rights of tens of thousands of our people are trampled to the earth every four years, and yet the Government tolerates the outrage.

The closing section of each of the constitutional amendments says: "Congress shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." But Congress has not done so. If it had, the old Democratic serpent would never have succeeded in swallowing the Government. He would be so nearly dead as to find difficulty in even moving his tail, and James G. Blaine would now be President. Of course the "appropriate legislation" to enforce these amendments will never be had from a Democratic administration. The most that a Republican Senate can hope to accomplish under Cleveland's reign is to prevent the Democrats from so changing the election laws that a fair election and an honest count will be as nearly impossible for Republican voters in the North as they now are in the South.

The fourth article of the original constitution declares that "The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government." Now, if this means anything, it certainly means that every citizen of every State and every portion of every State shall be protected in the exercise of all the rights conferred upon him by the constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof.

At the earliest possible day we must have a Congress and President that will enforce the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, at all hazards and at whatever cost. Otherwise the time is not far away when the Constitution of our country will not be worth the paper on which it is printed. Voters should bear these facts in mind, especially when choosing members of Congress and legislators, whose duty it will be to elect United States Senators.

RALPH E. HOYT.

A CASE OF QUIEN SABE.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Why is it that opposing candidates will put up jobs on each other?

Why is it that Stephen M. White indoced Mrs. Larsen to put in circulation the beautiful little story about Mr. Hazard?

Why is it that Mr. Hazard manifested so little judgment in answering it in circular pro forma?

Why is it that "Hon." Terrence Cooney ("be gob"), Democratic candidate for Assemblyman, and "Col." Walter S. Moore ("Wat yer soy?") Republican candidate for Secretary of State, cannot speak, read nor write without assaulting all the rules of grammar and rhetoric?

Why is it that these two high-bred gentlemen will put themselves forward as representatives of education, morals and intelligence?

Why is it that some people will vote for them?

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1886.

Tacit Confession.

There is now but one full day between us and the election. At this juncture we desire to recall the attention of every honest Republican voter to a few facts. THE TIMES owns no votes, nor does it desire to. Its mission is to men who have the manhood to own their own votes; to Republicans who believe in honesty, decency and good government, and who see that the only way to keep our party clean is to clean it ourselves. Our enemies will not do it for us.

Six weeks ago THE TIMES published the culminating charge against Moore—a charge which was of the most damning nature. It exposed him as a leader and partaker in an orgie of almost incredible vileness. Mr. Moore and his friends had already made much talk of libel suits based on the publication of previous charges, and when this exposure was made, they painted the air blue with profane threats. THE TIMES stated that its charges were absolutely true, declared itself ready to prove any or all of them in court, and defied the bloviators to bring suit and give it a chance to clinch its statements. Mr. Moore and his friends have never brought the suit. They never intended to. They dared not. They have never had the effrontery to come out and deny the charges. None of their newspaper organs or allies have dared to do it. Only in obscure corners have they ventured to tell anyone that THE TIMES facts were not facts. Their public policy has been to call the charges "abuse" and drop the matter there. This will not satisfy any straight-minded man. Such charges cannot be winked aside. If they are not true, their authors should be branded forever.

So the matter stands. Mr. Moore asks you on Tuesday next to support him, while he makes no attempt to show himself worthy of any man's support. He is branded, and the great mass of honest, clean-lived voters will relegate him to his proper place.

GEN. VANDEVER had a fine meeting at Orange. The Tribune says: "We shall not attempt to give even a synopsis of his remarks, as we have not the space, but it is certain that every one who heard him came to the conclusion that he was thoroughly well posted in national affairs, and that his strong and vigorous mind was well calculated to deal with the questions which will come before the next Congress. Of course the speech was intensely Republican, but it was argumentative, logical and well calculated to produce a strong and lasting impression on the minds of those who were listening to it."

THE Democratic paper published at Gen. Vandever's home says of him at the close of the campaign: "We have not published a word during this campaign derogatory in the slightest degree of Gen. Vandever as a neighbor or citizen. We will cheerfully concede that in these relations he is all his most ardent admirers claim for him." The Democrat, however, does not like the General's politics or his references to the past. This appears to be the extent of his offending in that journal's eyes. Vandever's friends are willing to have it so considered.

In his speech at Sacramento, ex-Senator Booth said:

I once heard Starr King, of blessed memory, say in a lecture on Webster that the climate of New Hampshire, where Webster was born, had three seasons—setting in of winter, winter, breaking up of winter. In this country, we seem to have three political seasons—preparing for an election, holding an election, getting over an election.

Mr. Booth hit the nail on the head and made a good speech.

In a speech delivered last May, P. D. Wigginton said: "I wish to say to you here now, fellow-citizens, that I am an American. I am in favor of Americans ruling America." On page 9 he said: "Our third proposition is that the soil of America belongs to Americans, and that no alien, resident or non-resident, should ever be permitted to own real estate." He also said, twenty-five years ago, that Abraham Lincoln was "a bloody tyrant." He is not so good an American as he would have the country believe.

MR. FRANK M. PIXLEY denies that P. D. Wigginton was a Copperhead during the war. But the following bit of historical evidence, taken from the Stockton Independent of July 23, 1863, leaves no doubt on that point:

MERCED COPPERHEADS.

The Copperheads of Merced on Friday, July 17th, made the following nominations: County Judge, J. W. Robertson; County Clerk, J. W. Rose; Sheriff, E. G. Hector; District Attorney, P. D. Wigginton; Treasurer, D. A. Jamison; Assessor, L. P. Wilson; Public Administrator, J. M. Strong; Coroner, S. M. Brown; Superintendent of Schools, R. B. Huey.

Mr. Pixley is striving to throw down John F. Swift by inserting Wigginton into the canvass for the purpose of drawing off votes from the Republican party. Will any Republican permit himself to be made a tool of in that manner? No!

WHATEVER votes the blatherskite O'Donnell receives will be drawn chiefly from the Democratic ranks. It was the O'Donnell ticket that Walter S. Moore tried to get "onto."

ONLY one remark needs to be made relative to the letter of L. J. Rose, which THE TIMES publishes to-day, criticising Col. Edwards, his opponent for the Senate. Col. Edwards did not seek cover under the wing of McGlashan, of Truckee, in the matter of the county division bill, as Mr. Rose would have the public believe. Edwards is in the habit of standing up straight when any responsibility is imposed upon him by his constituents.

THE claim that J. D. Lynch has any special fitness for Congress is preposterous and unsupported by the facts. He is no statesman. General Vandever is a statesman, a soldier, a gentleman and an honest man—the superior of Lynch, mentally, morally, and in good repute.

LYNCH had considerable to say last night about "the illimitable gall of these fatherhood-of-God and brotherhood-of-man cranks." Let men of conviction and principle remember and resent his sneers.

THE Democrats cannot elect a single man on their county ticket without Republican votes. The Republican county ticket is one which gives Republicans no excuse for scratching. It is good clear through.

THE duty of the hour for every Republican is to go to the polls next Tuesday and fire one more shot—with a paper bullet—into the ranks of the common enemy, the Democratic party.

GEN. VANDEVER'S speech last night, which THE TIMES prints almost verbatim, is a good speech, and the author of it is a good man, who is going to arrive there, Ell.

The brilliant and logical speech of Gen. William Vandever, at Orange, on the issues of the campaign, was a masterly effort, and will be read with interest by every voter in the county. The General has been a close student of the questions which will come before the next Congress, and from the position he has been accustomed to occupy in the councils of the nation, he is well informed as to the views of many of his fellow-statesmen. His speech was of considerable length and bristled with facts and figures, which he handled in a masterly manner. He spoke for two hours to a large audience in the Opera House, and at the close of his remarks was given a rousing vote of thanks. The Democratic county committee, which has been trying to get him to speak in every county in the district, was obliged to let Vandever go to Orange. The interest he has excited in the campaign by his speech will be of great benefit to the Republican county ticket. It may take the form of votes, or it may take the form of money, but in any case it will be of benefit. The General's speech is a strong one, and will be read with interest by every voter in the county. It is a speech that will bear reading and re-reading, and will be found full of information and argument. It is a speech that will be quoted from by Republican speakers and writers throughout the campaign as the Democratic party proceeds to exhibit its weakness in Congress, and from the record which it has been compelled to make in the House of Representatives. It is a speech that does credit to the head and heart of its author, and one of which every Republican in the county may feel proud. It is a speech that will be read with interest by every voter in the county gentlemen, I tell you this is the policy of Mr. Jo Lynch, who professes to be the friend of American industry and a friend of the producers in California. But this profession of his is not borne out by his acts, and it is characteristic of his whole career. I submit that he is a fit representative of the party whose nominee he is. Now, then, in regard to our industries: In the making of wool it was formerly protected by a tariff placed upon it, which enabled the wool-growers of California to maintain successfully their industry. But finally that was reduced through the agency of the Democrats in Congress, which took away from the wool-grower the protection which he formerly had. And now, the Democratic party, seeing the result of their own folly, put it into their platform, and demand that there shall be a restriction of this tariff of 1867 that protected the wool-grower in this country. Why, when the proposition was made in the Senate of the United States to reduce the tariff on wool in 1867, or a revision of this tariff of 1867, John Sherman of Ohio stood up in his place, and moved that the tariff of 1867 be restored, and that it be preserved. That proposition was defeated by the Democratic party in the Senate and its passage was prevented by the Democrats in the House of Representatives. And yet they will put it into their platform that they demand the restriction of this tariff of 1867, and yet they change that tariff and reduce it, and do it in such a way and at such a time as it will militate against the interests of the wool growers of this coast. And so it is with the best varieties of articles. I can only refer to these subjects briefly in passing.

It is the policy of the Republican party, and has been at all times, to protect the industries and the enterprises of the American people and to protect the labor element of this country. It is inscribed upon its banners and upon its pillars and ensigns, and it is abundantly exemplified in all its past history. Our party has always stood up for the protection of American enterprise. And under the policy as expressed and maintained by the Republican party in regard to the industries and manufactories of this country, and for the protection of those who are now successfully operating that class of business and have been for 20 years past, our enterprises and our manufactories have enhanced in value and grown to such an extent that we are to-day the greatest manufacturing nation on the face of the globe, and in consequence are regarded as the richest, freest nation on the face of the globe. However, the product of our manufactures enhanced in value in that twenty years of time from two thousand millions of dollars to somewhere in the neighborhood at present of seventeen or eighteen thousand millions of dollars. Perfectly astonishing, isn't it? And it is this vast growth in the product of the manufactories that has made us such a prosperous people to-day, and made us rich. Now there are many laboring people in this country here to-day who have comfortable means. But those who do not seek to protect him in the branch that gains for him his livelihood, cannot claim from him the assistance and support that those could whose principles are drafted for the complete and thorough protection of the laboring man. And I repeat to you here, gentlemen, that whenever the organization of the Government and the control of it is wholly and entirely run in the interest of the Democratic party they will change the administration to suit them, and the laboring man can take care of himself as best he can. And whenever it is decided and settled that the Government is run entirely in the interest of the Democratic party, and when it is determined that the interests of the Government depend upon the success of the Democratic party, then the country will languish and labor will languish, and enterprise will languish.

You know what the condition of affairs was in 1860, when the administration changed, when the Republican party received charge of the federal affairs from the hands of the Democratic party. You know how loose the condition of affairs was at that time, and how low the condition of public credit had become at that time. You know of the poor administration of the Government as taken from the record of Democratic policy, and you know how empty the treasury was, and what a gloomy prospect there was. You also know how gloriously the affairs of this country have been redeemed from this maladministration of the Democratic party; how it has been redeemed under the Republican rule. And you know what thanks we owe to the Republican party for our glorious recovery from the gloomy prospects before us, accomplished under the guiding hand of Providence in the guise of the Republican party. And we owe it to-day to the policy and to the measures of the Republican party that we are now a rich and powerful nation and a happy and a prosperous people.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, I do not propose to go into lengthy discussion to-night of this question. But I say this again: Mr. Lynch has followed my track throughout this campaign, always keeping in the rear, and we propose that he shall keep in the rear, and that on the 2d of November next he and the party that he represents will be so far in the rear that they will not be heard of again, at least for the next two years, if not for a longer period of time. [Applause.]

We have all gone over this canvass thoroughly, and these questions have been discussed. The issue is in your hands. We are now ready for action. Discussion is now about over, and we are summing up the final issues. We are now just upon the eve of battle—just before battle. We must go forth on the second day of next November, on Tuesday next, furnished and equipped for the final contest, confident that victory will perch upon our banners [applause]—confident that there has been ushered in an era of prosperity for California from this time on, when the news shall be flashed to the Atlantic seaboard that California has a Republican administration, and our State government is to be controlled by a Republican Governor; that the Legislature of California is Republican, and that it will send up to the Senate of the United States this coming session a Republican Senator. [Applause.]

I cannot dwell now upon what have been the faults of the Democratic administration nor of the State administration of affairs. You know the circumstances which have attended the administration of Gen. Stoneman through the past four years, and that every promise that has been made by the Democratic party in regard to the improvement of our State affairs, and as to the question of economy and reform, has failed to be performed, and that both in regard to State and national affairs, the Democratic rulers of the party are at fault. They have proved not only their bad faith—they have proved not simply their incapacity, but they have proved by their acts that they are unworthy to be trusted, and that they have not improved in their method of conducting public affairs. They have before them the verdict which passed over the country in 1861, which swept them from place and power. And I submit that that verdict was a just and a righteous verdict, and that to-day they are no more entitled to the confidence and support of the people or this county at large than they were in 1861.

Twenty months ago the Democratic party came into power, and most of the worst acts so far perpetrated upon the public have been committed through the aid and instrumentality of the man who has come out from the bosom of the Democratic party. And I say that during that period of time, up to to-day, there is not one single measure connected with this administration, that commends or deserves our approbation or our admiration. From the ranks of that party within that period of time no great names have arisen, while from the ranks of the Republican party have arisen those men whose names shed lustre upon the history of this country, whose names are illustrious throughout the world and whose names will furnish examples of honesty and intelligence throughout generations yet unborn.

Now, then, for twenty short months we have been under the control of a Democratic administration. There is not one solitary incident connected with the administration of the affairs under the administration of Grover Cleveland within the last twenty months that can commend our personal or hearty support—not one.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, let me tell you that, on the second day of next November, the people will go to the polls to vote the way they think will best subserve their interests and promote their own personal welfare. And I think the votes that are cast next Tuesday will be honest votes. Those ballots will fall softly and noiselessly, as snowflakes fall upon the bosom of the ocean. It is always a proud spectacle to be contemplated when the people of this country, in the exercise of the freemen's right, go to the polls to determine for themselves the men who shall control their affairs—to select their own choice of the men who shall be deserving of the conduct of the administration of public affairs. It is a spectacle that excites the admiration of the people of all Europe; which excites the admiration and consideration of the people of Europe as much as it does the citizens of our own republic. There is something that touches the pride and ambition of every man when he passes up and deposits his ballot in the ballot-box, and names his choice of those he desires to administer the public affairs. Here the people are sovereign. It is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. That is the glory of independence—to live within ourselves, by ourselves and for ourselves, and be independent of the world at large.

Now, fellow citizens, I will not continue longer with my remarks, after you have been entertained by my friend sitting over here, my able and eloquent friend Tanner, whose name is endeared to us. And while we have our beautiful flag flying over us as an emblem of the liberty we have gained and enjoy, I hope that we will all exert our independence and patriotism sufficiently to turn out and vote conscientiously, for the best interests of the public, and vote the Republican ticket, and by so doing reflect honor upon yourselves and upon the party that protects the liberties of the people throughout the length and breadth of this great and prosperous nation.

WASHINGTON.

GOSSIP FROM THE NATION'S CAPITAL.

Some Distinguished Men—Abram S. Hewitt and His Infirmities—Ex-Senators Yulee and Hunter, Geo. Bancroft and Librarian Spofford—The Historian's Habits.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—[Special correspondence of THE TIMES.] It leaks out that Secretary Manning, who is one of the shrewdest politicians in the country, is entitled to the credit of suggesting Abram S. Hewitt as a candidate for Mayor of New York, and he left the Democratic leaders of that city wondering why the idea had not occurred to them. Two very large birds were slain by the single shot. Firstly, upon Mr. Hewitt all factions of the party could unite, and harmony was secured at no expense and with no misgivings; while, secondly, Mr. Manning's suggestion relieved the administration of a very troublesome ally in Congress. Mr. Hewitt is always active and always intense; he is one of the most thoroughly educated men in public life; there are few men in Congress so well informed as he, while his integrity, ability and unselfish patriotism are unquestioned. But with all these qualities he lacks the most important essentials for a successful leader in Congress. If he had a cool head, self-control and some tact, he would stand at the head of his party. As he has neither, he can never be depended upon, except to defeat that which he most earnestly desires to accomplish. When Mr. Hewitt promises to take hold of a measure, those interested should at once ask the prayers of the church, for his aid is pretty sure to be fatal.

He has no tact in convincing doubters; he plunges into a debate with a series of assertions, and somebody contradicts or discredits one of them he loses his temper, flies all to pieces and usually abandons the fight. Those who oppose him know his weakness, and naturally govern themselves accordingly. That again Mr. Hewitt is no can did, so honest and sincere that he often jumps from one side to the other on a pending question without the slightest premonition. If he hears an argument that is convincing, or a statement of fact that shows a light on a subject that has not been shown to him before, he will accept it instantly, even though he may have made a speech on the other side, so that his vote can never be depended upon.

Last winter he became very much interested in a certain measure, prepared himself carefully for a speech, and when he took the floor, those interested in its passage expected great things of him. During the progress of the debate, some new points that he had not considered came out, and he discussed them. To the surprise of his friends, he spoke on both sides of the question, and, meeting one of them soon afterward, inquired where Mr. Hewitt finally came out. His friend looked at me with a gloomy and disgusted air, and then exclaimed: "I'll be hanged if I know. First he spoke on one side, then on the other; then he turned three or four double somersaults and landed in the ditch."

Mr. Hewitt's trouble is insomnia, and he is a great sufferer, often being deprived of sleep for several days in succession. This makes him exceedingly irritable and nervous, and is the cause of his blunders and bad temper. When he is himself there is no more affable, generous or agreeable man; but, after a couple of sleepless nights he is as wild and irreconcilable as a thousand furies. He is continually making embarrassing mistakes, and continually apologizing for them. It is a rare week in Congress when he does not arise in his seat, in humility, confess that he has wronged some fellow-member, and ask pardon therefor.

Mr. Hewitt has three or four residences in New York and as many in Washington, and never knows where he is going to sleep. He will go to bed at one house, and if he cannot find rest there will get up, dress himself, and try another. Sometimes he tries half a dozen different beds in a single night before he finds one to fit him. Some years ago he was the prosecuting witness in a suit brought to abate a nuisance in the shape of a rooster—a pet of one of the neighbors—which disturbed him by crowing early in the morning. The other families in the neighborhood testified that their rest was not disturbed, and the court decided that the rooster was not a nuisance if properly regulated. Mr. Hewitt considered the decision so outrageous that he wanted the judge impeached and the court abolished, but all he could do was to move away.

If he is elected Mayor of New York and things do not go to suit him, he will tear up the whole city government by the roots, but there will be no cheating under his administration.

The death of ex-Senator Yulee, of Florida, the other day, leaves Jefferson Davis and R. M. T. Hunter, of Virginia, the only survivors of the coterie of Senators who went into the Confederacy in 1861. He has been a familiar figure about Washington for the last three or four years, and recently erected a beautiful residence here on Connecticut avenue, opposite the British legation—a white-haired, distinguished-looking man with courtly manners and a genial presence. He was a native of the West Indies, and a Jew by birth, he only man of that race who ever had seat in the United States Senate. He is early youth he abandoned the religion of his fathers and changed his name from Levy to Yulee, when he came to the United States. Later in life he became a Presbyterian, and his funeral was held in the New York Avenue church, which President Lincoln used to attend.

Mr. Yulee was one of the early settlers of Florida and made himself a leader in commerce as well as politics, gaining a great deal of wealth and dying with millions. He leaves two daughters, one of them the wife of a Mr. Meade, and the other, Miss Florida Yulee, a lady of great beauty, who is the original of that charming novel, "The Tallahassee Girl." She has been quite prominent in Washington society and is very much admired.

Ex-Senator Hunter, of Virginia, is now collector of customs at the little port of Accomac, on the Potomac, where the salary is only about $300 a year, and the place was given him as a mark of respect by the present administration. He is now over 80 years of age; and has had more history crowded into his life than has been experienced by many men. Forty years ago he was one of the ablest statesmen of the time, and although since the close of the war he has not been an active participant in politics, he still retains much of his early vigor and ability. In 1830 he was a member of the Legislature of Virginia; in 1837 a member of Congress; in 1846 he was Speaker of the House of Representatives; in 1838 he was elected to the United States Senate, and continued to hold a seat in that body until he was expelled in 1861. During the war he served in the Confederate Senate, and was captured after the evacuation of Richmond. Then he was sent to Fort Lafayette, and remained in prison until pardoned by President Johnson. He has since been living at the little town of Accomac, about 60 miles from Washington, conducting a plantation. Most people who have not forgotten him suppose him to be dead, but he is still hale and healthy, and has a constitution that bids fair to outlast the century.

The venerable historian, George Bancroft, has returned from his summer home at Newport, looking as if he was only 40, instead of 87 years old, a picture of hale and hearty old age. He is to be seen every morning, rain or shine, on his thoroughbred mare, with his friend and crony, A. R. Spofford, the Librarian of Congress, riding at a rapid pace into the country, for exercise, with a groom in livery behind them, and it requires a pretty good horse and a pretty good rider to keep their gait.

Since the death of Mr. Bancroft's wife, a year or more ago, he has done very little literary work, and his history of the United States remains at a standstill; but the material to carry the work up to the war of the rebellion has been collected and classified, and Mr. Spofford, who, it is supposed, has been selected by Mr. Bancroft, and mentioned in his will as his literary executor, can carry on the great work from the point where the master drops it.

Mr. Bancroft's methods of labor are peculiar. He has had his historical data in the vaults of a safe deposit company in Washington for years. When he intends to write he sends for whatever notes or manuscripts he needs—and he has copies of all the archives of the United States and several foreign countries, gathered at an immense cost of money and labor—and devotes himself to study until he has every fact fixed in his mind, with the leading circumstances. Then he calls in his stenographer and dictates to him at length, constantly walking up and down his room as he does so, generally with his hands under his coat-tails, or leaning back in his easy-chair, with a long German pipe in his mouth. After the notes are written out, Mr. Bancroft devotes himself to the work of condensing and refining them, often reducing five or six pages into one. The result is then copied and laid away often for years, until the subject or the epoch of which he is treating is complete. Then he takes the manuscript, goes over it again in the same manner, leaving scarcely a line as it originally stood, but rewriting the whole.

His habits of life are very frugal and simple. He goes to bed early and sleeps for eight or nine hours. Then he rises, has a cup of coffee and an egg, and goes out for his morning ride. By 10 o'clock or so he returns, bathes, studies or dictates for a couple of hours, and then takes a hearty luncheon at 12 or soon after. Then he returns to his work for a couple of hours, and if the weather will permit takes a ride or a walk, or a drive with his granddaughter, Miss Susannah, a beautiful girl who was born in Germany of a German mother, and when she came over after Mrs. Bancroft's death, a year ago, could not speak English. She has learned it rapidly, however, and is not only her grandfather's companion, but his housekeeper and pet.

The old man and the girl live alone in the great brown-stone house on H street, not far from the White House. He usually has a good many calls in the evening, and is fond of the society of young people. His amusement indoors is whist, and he has a circle of cronies who come in regularly to play with him and drink the rare old wine he brought from Germany years ago.

APPLAUSE THAT WAS "MANAGED ADMIRABLY."

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 30.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Mr. S. B. Kingsley and wife have returned from an extended trip through the Eastern States.

The rival services at the M. E. church continue to increase in interest, being very ably conducted by Revs. Bresee and Robinson. Meetings will be held every evening until November 7.

Arrangements are being made for the establishment of a lumber-yard at the depot. Heretofore all lumber has been carted at a considerable expense, either from Los Angeles or San Gabriel.

Stanton & Anderson have made some much needed changes in their store. Finding more room necessary to accommodate their increasing grocery business, the postoffice has been removed to a separate department, with entrance from Garfield avenue, and hereafter the mails will be opened on Sundays between 8 and 5 p.m. only.

The hall was "about half full" last evening to listen to Democratic oratory. A noticeable feature of the pow-wow was the large number of strangers present, who managed the applause admirably.

The Pettit place, now occupied by Mr. Ogilvie, was recently sold to Dr. Jones.

Wilmington.

A ROUSING REPUBLICAN MEETING—GEN. VANDEVER AND CORPORAL TANNER.

WILMINGTON, Oct. 29.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Our local Republican club, determined to wind up the campaign in good shape, took upon itself the entire management and expense of the meeting. A special train was hired for the San Pedro people, and a goodly number availed themselves of it. The San Pedro brass band was also chartered. A bonfire and torchlight procession enlivened the scene, and a large and enthusiastic crowd completely filled the spacious hall.

General Vandever is a Republican war-horse, and he made a splendid impression. There can be no doubt about his "getting there," and there is no reader of THE TIMES but knows by this time that the "old man eloquent" gave us a good square Republican "feast of reason and flow of soul."

Corporal Tanner, though suffering severely from fatigue and sore throat, yet held his large audience spell-bound under the magic of his eloquence and glowing rhetoric for more than an hour. Both speakers were repeatedly and enthusiastically applauded, and it is safe to say that the entire audience, almost to a man, were "en rapport" with the distinguished speakers. Among the array of vice-presidents upon the stage were Sheriff Gard, County Clerk Dunsmoor, Gen. Brierly, County Attorney Holton and other candidates.

The meeting closed with "The Star Spangled Banner" from the band and three rousing cheers from the audience for candidates. We expect to poll an almost unanimous Republican vote next Tuesday.

Glendale.

POLITICS, RELIGION, GAME AND GOSSIP.

GLENDALE, Oct. 30.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] All other questions yield to politics at present. The candidates of the three parties have been attempting to stir up the citizens of Glendale and vicinity, with what success remains to be seen. The Prohibitionists are probably the most energetic in the way of holding meetings, while the Democrats are carrying on a vigorous still hunt. There will be a great deal of scratching done on election day through varied motives. Republicans and Democrats have been holding meetings in the schoolhouse, while Prohibitionists have been allowed the privilege of the churches, which thought leads to church topics. Glendale has a Methodist and a Presbyterian church, the former in charge of the Rev. Mr. Tarr, while the latter is at present without a regular pastor, but is about to give a call to a young and energetic minister, who will, doubtless, make his influence felt. Episcopal services are also held in the schoolhouse by the Rev. Mr. Henderson, formerly of the Church of England. The Glendale school, under the charge of Mr. Campbell and Miss Mortimer, has about 75 scholars. The Verdugo school will open on the 1st, with Mr. Coleman as teacher; the non-arrival of furniture has delayed this opening.

An enjoyable "social" was given by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church, at the residence of Mr. Chase, on the evening of the 19th.

Two or three deer have lately been killed in the neighborhood of the Big Tejunga. Quail and rabbit-shooting is much good sport in the vicinity of Verdugo canyon as in the days of Francisco Verdugo, who owned the whole country from the Arroyo Seco to the Tejunga, but hunters still stalk over the hills hereabouts.

Verdugo carried off the prize for sweet potatoes and lima beans at the late fair, raised without irrigation, and real estate stiffens accordingly.

The road hither, especially within the city limits, grows worse daily, and the City Fathers are anathematized more vigorously in consequence.

The Glendale Improvement Society holds a meeting next Monday evening.

A splendid opportunity to secure valuable property at the trifling sum of $890 per lot, payable in monthly installments of $15 each, and each succeeding payment $15 monthly, without interest. Forty houses without extra charge. Every purchaser will have a fair and equal chance to obtain one or more of these lots, and some residences, according as he or she may be the fortunate possessor of one or more lots, the purchaser being entitled to a deed and separate choice for every lot he or she may buy, and may choose every time his name is called the most valuable property unrecorded up to the time his name is so called.

The entire tract is beautifully situated, and the rapid growth of the city is tending rapidly eastward, it is bound to become in the near future the finest residence portion in the county of Los Angeles. The whole of the lots will undoubtedly double in value, and those fronting on Pasadena ave. and all streets radiating from will beyond question command a high figure, and at the prices the lots themselves are a first-class investment at the figures quoted—$390 each—not to speak of the splendid inducements offered to obtain one or more of the valuable residence lots. The title is perfect. The titles are deposited in the hands of Rogers, Booth & Co.

Purchases of these lots are being made by residents of Los Angeles, the adjoining towns, San Francisco, Boston, Chicago, and many of the points East, a large number already having been disposed of. Quite a large proportion of the purchasers are ladies, and we especially invite ladies who wish to know more about this property to call upon us.

If you want to secure a good investment at a low cost, do not hesitate, but secure one or more of these valuable lots at once.

Lots can be purchased, and maps, circulars and all information may be had by application to

The Paso Robles, Santa Ysabel and Eureka Ranches,

Recently purchased by the West Coast Land Co.,

Are Now Offered For Sale in Subdivisions.

This immense body of land, including 13,000 acres unsold of the Huer Huero ranch, belonging to C. H. Phillips, comprises 64,000 acres of rich, virgin soil. It lies in a compact body, in the center of San Luis Obispo county, and is within from 9 to 32 miles of the sea coast. It is covered with white and live oak timber, is one of the most picturesque bodies of land in the State, and REQUIRES NO IRRIGATION.

It has an abundance of living water, and where not sufficient for domestic use, good water can be had at a depth of from 10 to 40 feet. It has an average annual rainfall of 21 inches, exceeding by 6 inches that of Santa Clara county, one of the most prosperous counties in the State.

The extension of the Southern Pacific Railroad from Soledad southward traverses the lands for 15 miles, throughout their entire length, placing the property within eight hours of San Francisco.

These lands are offered at from $10 to $20 an acre and are all susceptible of the highest cultivation. In salubrity of climate, productiveness of soil, and location as to market, they are equal to lands in Los Angeles and other counties, which readily bring from $100 to $200 and upwards; and as to price and terms offer the best inducements to those seeking homes of any part of the Pacific Coast. The survey of the Paso Robles Ranch has been completed. The maps and catalogues are now ready and will be sent free on application. This ranch, containing 20,400 acres, has been subdivided into 250 lots. It is 12 miles from the sea coast, and is 20 miles north and west from San Luis Obispo city. This ranch was one of the earliest granted by the Mexican government, and having been held by the same parties for over 20 years, has never before been offered for sale. It consists exclusively of land of the choicest character, and is second to none in the State for the production of wheat, wine, fruits, raisins and olives. Title, U. S. Patent.

TERMS OF SALE—One-third cash; balance in four equal payments at two, three, four and five years; interest 6 per cent. per annum. The mortgage tax paid by the mortgagor makes the interest about 4 per cent. net to the purchaser. A deposit of $25 will be required in all cases to cover expenses of sale.

CAUGHT.

A HUSBAND'S DETECTIVES TRAP AN UNFAITHFUL WIFE.

A Long Night's Vigil and the Fruit it Will Bear in the Divorce Court—A Fat Official Don Juan and His Fair Night-long Visitor.

Social circles in Los Angeles are about to be disrupted over the legal proceedings which a husband will commence this week in the Superior Court against his wife. Thursday night a TIMES reporter, on his accustomed rounds, noticed two well-known private detectives on guard in front of the Bumiller block on North Spring street. Several times during the night, as the reporter went back and forth to the police station, he noticed the continued presence of the detectives at their post of duty. The shades of night wore away, the stars blinked out one by one, and the gray of the early morning came, and still they were there. Sunrise found one of them guarding the back stairs of the block, while the other remained at his first place. Six, seven and eight struck the bell of the clock in the tower of the Courthouse, and the detectives ceased not their vigils. A few minutes past 8 o'clock and there was the opening of a lodger's door, the tread of dainty shoes, the rustle of silk, and a lovely woman came into the main hallway, and quickly tripped down the stairway. In a moment the keen eyes of detective S—— met hers, and she nearly fainted, as she realized that her husband then had the evidence which would justify the separation from her forever, and the exposing of her shame to the gossipping world.

It has since been learned that the husband suspected her liaisons for quite a while past, but could procure no evidence sufficient to confirm his doubts and justify a divorce. So he took the advice of the detectives, and absented himself from town for several days. This gave the guilty couple their desired opportunity to enjoy their stolen pleasures. The detectives then shadowed her. Thursday evening they followed her from her home to the room of her paramour, and remained on watch till she came out, and she could not possibly deny her guilt. Her husband returned to the city yesterday, on receiving a telegram from the detectives announcing their success. The case will be tried before Judge Brunson with closed doors. The wronged husband claims to be a surveyor on the Mexican railroad. He lives with his wife in the Ponet Block. The man who received the wife's visits is a well-known U. S. deputy official who rooms in the Bumiller Block.

The Royal Conservatory of Music in Stuttgart, Germany,

Is, as all know, one of the greatest music schools of the globe. The brilliant technique acquired by a thorough training in its peculiar method for the piano, and the decided preference over other European conservatories given it by Liszt, Rubenstein, and other famous pianists, have well supported its reputation of being the best school for that instrument in the world. An opportunity is now given to the people of Los Angeles to obtain the advantages of this great institution at moderate terms and in their own city. MISS ARDWAY KENT, a graduate of the Stuttgart Conservatory, and for one year a teacher in the same, is now at Bellevue Terrace, corner of Sixth and Pearl streets, ready to receive pupils in piano, solo or chorus singing, harmony, thorough bass and sight reading, as well as in the French and German languages. We trust the intelligent inhabitants of Los Angeles will not be backward in improving the advantages afforded them by Miss Kent's residence in our midst. She is always to be seen at Bellevue Terrace, between 1 and 2 P.M. Best of references given.

Not So of the South Side Tract.

Speaking of a "certain tract" a buyer said the easiest way to reach it was to "take the train to Santa Monica and walk back to it." The Pico Motor will take you to the South Side Tract in 20 minutes on a five-cent fare. The line will soon be running. (Make a note of this.)

Announcement.

After Monday, November 1st, the prices of the best lots in the Sherman tract on Pico st. will be advanced 25 per cent. The present price is $325.

A Beautiful Fence.

The beautifully designed wrought-iron fence inclosing the fountain in the Plaza Park was built by Pruhling Bros., 54 S. Los Angeles street.

Improvements.

Contracts have been let during the past eight days for five elegant residences in the charming Ellis tract, all to be completed and ready for occupancy before February 1st next.

A Splendid Table.

The St. Elmo Hotel, under the efficient management of George O. Ford, is gaining popularity daily. Mr. Ford was born to keep a hotel. The table is undoubtedly the best to be found in Southern California.

"Remember"

The South Side lots are on the famous Motor Railroad. There are only 86 with 12 fine houses (one in seven); each lot contains nearly ¼ of an acre; 25 acres divided into 86 elegant lots with alleys.

Nearly One-half Sold.

The public judge, and the verdict is: One-half of the Howes tract sold in the few days that it has been on the market, and before even the maps were ready!

New Comers,

We invite you to take a free ride to the South Side tract of the Electric Railway Homestead Association on Pico Motor railway. Beautiful lots containing nearly ¼ acre each, with good alleys, pure water and most important of all, a splendid "high" location.

The Electric Railway Homestead Association

Advertise "lots on a splendid elevation." Is their claim true? "Lots on the famous Motor Railway." Is this true? Buyers, you will do well where such claims are made to see if they are true. We invite investigation.

You "May Be" Deceived

By published statements. We ask you to call and see the list of names of buyers on the books of the Electric Railway Homestead Association.

Every purchaser of a lot in the Sherman tract is guaranteed 25 per cent. advance within 60 days.

Puente Rooming.

The new hotel Rowland has been elegantly furnished and is now open for business. Mr. Sias, the proprietor, is a very genial and accommodating gentleman and will without doubt build up a nice business. His rooms are very pleasant and airy; guests will have all the comforts of home. Puente has many advantages to make it a thrifty town. It has a very large area of choice farming land to back it up. Being 18 miles from Los Angeles it will be an important business center, having the Southern Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroads, it can offer greater inducements to shippers. The oil wells will prove a great aid, as machinery can be run there for one-half the expense of that in other towns, and the oil will be utilized in many other ways that will assist in building up the town. Asphaltum exists in immense quantities near by. The shipment of grain from this station is larger than from any other station between Los Angeles and San Bernardino. After November 1st it will have 12 passenger coaches daily, which is a great advantage to those who wish to do business in the city and live in Puente. Convenient for tourists, being situated on the two trunk lines; they can come and go without the trouble of making transfers. Several business houses have gone up and others are to follow soon, among these a large brick block with a music hall in the second story. Among the number of residences to be built, we understand that ex-Sheriff Rowland contemplates building one that will cost $15,000. Real estate is active.

The Only Improvements.

The only company that has built houses upon its tracts is the Southern California Land Company [of Baker block]. It offers no cheap affair; but produces the cash receipts of the contractors with no house costing less than $1150, and from that to $1825. The beautiful villa residences situated on the "Vermont," and "City Centre" and the "Williamson" are all up and insured, and now comes the nine elegant homes to be erected on the Howes tract.

Elsie Reynolds

Materializing Seance, this (Sunday) 7 p.m., also in the evening, 355 S. Spring.

Maps! Maps! Maps!

The maps of the Howes tract now ready—nearly one-half of these lots subscribed for within the week! The public buy where location, freedom from malaria, pure air and pure water attract the purchaser and where no unsightly and dismal surroundings make life a morning and an evening horror.

A Five-cent Fare

Will take you to the lots of the Electric Railway Homestead Association's South Side tract. What other "outside" tract can guarantee a five-cent fare? Think of this.

Grand Praise Service

at Trinity M. E. Church on Fort street between Fifth and Sixth, this Sunday evening, October 31st, at 7:15 o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Beeson. Miss Minnie Hance, a fine contralto, will render a selection from the "Messiah." Mrs. Beeson will also be heard in one of her favorite selections. The Gospel Hymns will be a feature of the evening. An excellent service. Seat free.

"The Difference,"

The Electric Railway Homestead Association propose to give full values; if you get a lot in their "South Side" tract, you are entitled to an eight hundred dollar house. They will not build one for five hundred and call it eight, but if you desire to build the house yourself, they will pay the eight hundred dollars in cash. You can easily ascertain the responsibility of the association.

To-day! To-day!

Carriages at 9, 11, 2 and 3 o'clock to the Howes tract from 244 N. Main, Baker block.

"If You Buy"

A home on Pico Heights in the "South Side Tract" of the Electric Railway Homestead Association, if the river does break its confines and flow "down to the sea," it won't affect you; the elevation is 51 feet, and the lots are all level.

Eleven Thousand Three Hundred Dollars.

The nine houses of the Howes tract will cost $11,300. The Southern California Land Company (Baker block) is the one reliable company that has energy and business tact. The Howes tract is brimming over with improvements, with health, high location, pure water, splendid views, and is also the only tract in the direct line of the city's improvements.

No Bunkt of It.

The statements in regard to the non-inundation of Rosedale Cemetery still continue. Although not a pleasant location for the living, there is no doubt that the cemetery and its adjacent lots are above the river bed.

$1150 to $1825 Each.

These are the cash contract prices for all the houses placed on the tracts of the Southern California Land Company (Baker block). This company is the only one that has erected these charming villa residences. The nine houses for the Howes tract cost $11,300. Make a note of this.

Lots in the Sherman tract for one-third the price they will bring when the electric motor is running.

$100 Advance.

All lots in the Ellis tract remaining unsold after November 8th will be advanced $100 each owing to the additional improvements contracted for.

Bonaldo.

Recollect the improvements in the Ellis tract are to bonaldo and will be completed inside of thirty days.

Are You Satisfied With Twenty Per Cent.?

Even a profit of $20 per lot in twelve months would give you 20 per cent. per year for your investment of $100 in the Howes tract. But who expects these lots to earn only 20 per cent.?

The present indications are that every lot in the Sherman tract will be sold within ten days. These lots are the cheapest and choicest in the market.

Rare Chance.

My one and one-half story, finely-finished house and three improved lots, situate two blocks from terminus of Second-street cable, on an elevation overlooking the country and ocean for miles around, is for sale for $5000. Terms, one-half cash. Call on George O. Ford, St. Elmo Hotel.

The South Side Tract

Of the Electric Railway Homestead Association offers investors the following attractions: Any lot in this tract is worth more than the money asked, and in addition one in every seven has a house with it worth $800 free. They are on the Pico Motor Railway, where a five cent fare and 20 minutes ride will take you. Pure water will be "piped" to every lot by the Association. The lots contain nearly ¼ acre each. The elevation is 50 feet above surrounding "lowlands."

Elocution and Voice Building.

A professor of elocution will give private instructions at pupils' residence. Voice training a specialty. Room 18, Schumacher block, opposite postoffice.

Don't fail to attend the sale of lots in the Sherman tract on Pico st. to-morrow (Monday).

At Last the Los Angeles Ladies Have An Eastern Cloakmaker in Their Midst.

Mrs. M. Minard Supple, the well-known Eastern dressmaker at 109 N. Spring st., is already known to all the leading society ladies of Los Angeles. She is the only dressmaker in the city who conducts a similar business exclusively on the Eastern plan. She has a forewoman for each department, and employs over twenty subordinates. Again she is to increase her staff in order to make an exclusive department for cloaks, jackets, dolmans, etc. Heretofore it was impossible for those desiring a well fitted cloak to procure it here, but the time has come when the ladies of the Angel City can obtain them to fit their form to perfection. A few that Mrs. Supple has turned out are the admiration of every one, and the envy of those that had theirs made elsewhere. The well-known reputation of Mrs. Supple is legion. Whenever you see a well-fitted suit or cloak worn on our streets, you can rest assured that they came from the City of Paris Dressmaking Parlors, Mrs. M. Minard Supple, proprietress, 109 N. CATARRH.

THE TERM CATARRH IS APplied to a peculiar disorder of the nostrils and adjacent parts, which prevails to an alarming extent, and is productive of very serious consequences.

The most prominent and characteristic feature is a morbid discharge from the head, varying in its nature at different times.

In some there is an almost constant flow of clear, acrid fluid, but oftener an offensive, purulent or muco-purulent, greenish-yellow matter is secreted, which accumulates in the nostrils or drops into the throat, necessitating its frequent removal by blowing the nose or expectoration, and often by both processes. Sometimes patients feel as though their whole head was a mass of corruption, so great is the amount of matter discharged and so fetid is its odor. The patient is greatly annoyed by the constant dropping into the throat of the morbic matter from the head, and as a recumbent position naturally favors the flow downwards, his rest is frequently disturbed from this cause. Many sufferers are obliged to lie with the head very much elevated in order to sleep with some degree of comfort.

In others a tough, viscid and offensive phlegm collects in the nose and above the soft palate, in the passage between the throat and head, adhering to the parts with ginish tenacity. Its lodgment embarrasses respiration and creates a sensation of irritation and uneasiness in the affected locality, which gives rise to a constant and almost irresistible desire to relieve the discomfort by drawing the mucus into the throat so as to eject it by hawking. This practice, popularly known as "hawking," is characteristic of catarrh, and proves as embarrassing to the one affected as it is disagreeable to those around him.

Again, the offensive matter hardens and deposits itself on the membrane in the shape of dry, hard concretions, which are discharged from the nose by a regular flux in the nose, which obstructs breathing and produces serious discomfort. So firmly do these incrustations adhere to the point of attachment that their removal usually requires the most violent efforts; not unfrequently they have to be torn from the membrane. Occasionally a solid cast of notable size is expelled, on which there are generally traces of blood, but in some cases the cast presents a tubular appearance, being of exact shape of the nasal cavity. This condition is indicative of ulceration, which, in time, may destroy the bony structure of the nose and produce a subsequent flattening of that organ.

Cases are occasionally met with in which a thick, viscid, glittering secretion coats the membrane of the nasal cavities and then putrefies, giving rise to a stench which is really overpowering, and sufficiently fetid to poison the atmosphere of a whole room; and there are patients in whom the secretions of the membrane are suspended, causing an unpleasant feeling of dryness, heat and feverishness in the head and nose—a condition popularly known as "Dry Catarrh."

The disease speedily extends to the air cavities of the head, the forehead and face, giving rise to a distressing sensation of heavy weight or compression over the forehead, especially in the morning, with pain over the eyes, and to a feeling of fulness, heat, irritation and discomfort in the nostrils near the root of the nose, as well as in the upper part of the throat, above and behind the soft palate. Sometimes there is pain obstinately fixed in some particular part, as in the temple, on the top of the head, at the back of the neck, or behind the orbits, and, occasionally, pain manifests itself in the face of so severe a character that it is frequently mistaken for neuralgia.

The breath is always tainted and at times assumes an exceeding fetid and sickening odor. In some cases it becomes so revoltingly offensive as to render the sufferer an object of disgust to himself as well as to others.

The nasal membrane is thickened and congested, causing the nose to be stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable, stuffy sensation in the head and occasioning violent and prolonged paroxysms of sneezing.

The voice is weak, indistinct and husky, or of a nasal character, displaying a sort of sniffing quality. Oftentimes there is a continuous hoarseness and discordance. There is also a sense of irritation in the throat, and frequent attempts to clear the parts of phlegm, producing the sound "hem," more or less forcibly. In some cases patients complain of an uncomfortable feeling of dryness, or obstruction in the throat, and in others of a distressing and almost constant dryness, for the temporary relief of which they have to swallow frequently. Others, again, speak of a constant bad or nauseous taste in the mouth or throat.

The stomach generally suffers more or less and becomes weak and irritable; the appetite is capricious and is usually always bad in the morning. The patient is languid, unable to perform mental or physical labor with the usual facility, is nervous, depressed in spirits, at times fearful, timid, agitated and inclined to drowsiness and sleep, the memory weakened and permanent impairment ultimately threatened.

The nauseous membrane soon becomes morbidly sensitive to unfavorable influences, and in spite of the utmost care becomes affected from the slightest cause, so that at last a breath of wind upon the lining of the nose or throat becomes productive of a cold, and gives rise to serious disturbances of the membranous organs. Thus the patient is subject to frequent, and often repeated colds each attack aggravating the disease by giving it a new impulse and involving a larger extent of surface than its predecessor. In this manner the difficulty spreads from organ to organ, invading the throat, larnyx, trachea and bronchial tubes, until, sooner or later, the disease reaches the finer ramifications of the bronchi, when but a slight impulse is required to send it to the lungs. Catarrh may, and often does, affect other organs in the body, especially those containing a mucuous membrane, such as the stomach, bowels, kidneys, etc.

By the employment of proper inhalations in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedy at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless the disease has advanced to the chest and that both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured.
